"KING HENRY IV."

Remarkable Production of Shakespeare's Historical Drama. (REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 3.—The Mar-owe-Tabor production of Shakespeare's 'King Henry IV'' was given last night "King Henry IV" was given last night for the first time at the Davidson Theater. The most notable scenes were the council chamber in the palace at London, the old Boar's Head tavern and the battlefield at Shrewsberry. The costumes were extremely rich and picturesque and the performance showed that the chief aim had been to give an accurate historical production. The acting of the principal characters was in keeping with the surroundings. The part of Prince Hal gives Julia Marlowe-Tabor an opportunity to play the hero in both comic and tragic roles. The theater was crowded.

The rollicking scenes with Falstaff in the Boar's Head tavern, the interview with the angry King and the knight in armor on the battlefield were each portrayed by her with an ease and grace that delighted her audience. The fiery Hotspur had an admirable representation in Robert Tabor. The part of the King was played by Henry Meredith with dignity and William F. Owen as Falstaff and Mrs. Sol Smith as Dame Quickly were fully equal to their respective roles. for the first time at the Davidson The (REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—A special to he World from Philadelphia says that the World from Philadelphia says that H. H. Holmes, who is charged with wholesale insurance swindles and with several murders and is now awaiting trial for the killing of B. F. Pitzel, has not been idle in crime although a closely-guarded prisoner in the Philadelphia prison. He has engineered what is obviously a cunning scheme. Although deprived of writing material and in spite of every precaution taken and in spite of every precaution taken to prevent his communicating with any one outside, it seems he has written what purports to be a sketch of his ca-

The law officers of the commonwealth

The law officers of the commonwealth have been astounded by the publication of "advance sheets" and the announcement that a book written by Holmes on the margins of other books in the solitude of his cell will follow shortly.

They will be astounded further when they learn for the first time in this dispatch that the volume is the outcome of an idea originating in the brain of the prisoner which is all ready for working, but which the local authorities being thus forewarined may perhaps forbid. The scheme, worthy of a Holmes, is this:

During his travels throughout the country he has had business and social relations with many persons of undoubted respect and ability. He has, with unusual cunning, kept a record of all these transactions. The major portion of their friendships were undoubtedly free from any suspicion of wrongdoing, but they are to be made the vehicle for securing sufficient funds for his defense. The opening chapters of his book, published in one of the local papers, are devole of any times that would offend the most fastidious. They rehearse the wrong-doings of a New Hampshire lad whose subsequent career is not foreshadowed in any way. Innocent enough as the reminiscences may rehearse the wrong-doings of a New Hampshire lad whose subsequent career is not foreshadowed in any way. Innocent enough as the reminiscences may be, they are the groundwork of Holmes's bold stroke. The papers containing the opening chapters of the "book" will be mailed to those unfortunate enough to be classed among Holmes's friends.

Those who knew Holmes's friends.

Those who knew Holmes will be informed that they are to be part and parcel of the book. Intimations will be given that it will be unpleasant to be known in connection with its, author. All mention of certain names will be omitted, for a money consideration. There are chapters in the narrative that place some of the persons referred to in a most unpopular position. An instance of the kind is here given.

One of the chapters is devoted to the Boston experiences of Holmes and Minnie Williams. The woman, under the guidance of Holmes, entrapped a wealthy man of family. For a time, being led to believe he had deeply wronged the girl, he made such occasional financial reparation as he deemed proper and the "conscience" fund found its way into Holmes's pocket. When proper and the "conscience" fund found its way into Holmes's pocket. When Minnie Williams "dropped out of sight" the Boston man breathed freer, but when the awful revelations came his state of mind may be imagined.

Proof-sheets now being printed in a printing office near Sixth and Market streets will be forwarded to the Boston man and this proposition made: If he will purchase 1000 copies of the book, accompanying the immediate order therefor at the retail price thereof, $1 aplece, his name will be omitted as well as all matter that would in any way point to him. No doubt the Boston man, who can well afford it, will very quickly order the "book" and inclose a remittance for the same.

Lieuts. Keleher and Fitzpatrick with several officers mounted the patrolwagon and, taking two rifles, started in pursuit. At Union avenue and Forty-seventh street a big, yellow steer was tearing up the soil in view of hundreds who enjoyed the scene from neighboring sheds and windows. Lieut. Keleher fired, the bullet taking effect in the animal's head. It made him cough, but beyond that the steer seemed to enjoy it. Two more shots were fired into his body and at last he jumped into the air. Then the officers, with a number of men, started after the other members of the herd and they were soon rounded up.

REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT. LONDON, Sept. 3 .- (By Atlantic Cable.) A Havana dispatch to the Times says that a meeting of insurgent delegates at Najasa proclaimed a constitution for the republic on a federal basis of five States. They also elected the Marquis of Santa Lucia president and appointed various officers, as well as Maceo to be general commandant in Santiago de Cuba, Maximo Gomez Puerto Principe and Roloff in Santa Clara. Najasa was proclaimed as the provisional federal capital.

A resolution was adopted permitting farmers to sell their products in the town on the payment of 25 per cent, ad town on the payment of 25 per cent. ad valorem duty. WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—The Correspondencia's statement that a Spanish quadron is about to sail for the Ansquadron is about to sail for the An-tilles to urge the claims of Spain against the United States in the Alli-anca affair, cannot be explained at the State Department except upon the theory that it is simply contemplated to reinforce the blockading squadron, and that the claim story is erroneous, for no claims of the description are known to exist.

AMERICAN PROPERTY ATTACKED WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—United States Consul Hyatt, located at Santiago de Cuba, in reporting to the State Department upon the efforts of the Pohupo Mining Company to supply man-ganese ore for the American market, gives some details of an attack upon the miners employed by this company, by the Cuban insurrectionists.

The company is an American corpor-ation, the principal stockholders resid-ing in Pennsylvania, but Spanish of-ficers derive a tonnage royalty from the mines. This fact excited the dis-pleasure of the rebels to such an extent that they fired upon the miners, caus-ing such a stampede that the mine was compelled to close. Gen. A SEVERE STORM.

Illinois Points Report it the Most Furious in Years.

REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—A very severe storm of wind, rain and lightning prevailed throughout the northern portion of Illinois and Wisconsin last night Much minor damage was done, and tel-egraph and telephone communication was intermediate.

Much minor damage was done, and telegraph and telephone communication was interrupted.

Reports from many towns in Illinois north of Bloomington, state that the storm was one of the most furious known in years. At some points the storm reached the proportions of a hurricane. Late reports from the village of Kinderhook, where it was reported that three lives were lost, are to the effect that the first story was erroneous. It will be impossible, however, to get definite details of the damage done at that place until morning, as all wires are down. At 2 o'clock this (Wednesday) morning the storm is still raging in the vicinity of this city. The lightning flashes are almost incessant, and a heavy rain is falling.

The City of Louisville, one of the Graham & Norton boats, heavily loaded with passengers as well as freight, met with an accident in midlake tonight, which detained her nearly two hours and caused a great deal of worry in this city. The boat encountered the storm out in the lake and, while weathering the severest part of it, suffered the breaking of a piston-rod on one of her engines. This necessitated the shutting down of the machinery and the boat consequently drifted about at the mercy of the waves. The passen-claims that George Harry is responsible for having betrayed him and causing his arrest. Several weeks ago the Republican reported the breaking up of a nest of horse-thieves at this place and the arrest of several parties who were connected with the stealing. Two of the leaders, named Harry and Phillips, escaped and left the burden upon a woman conspirator, named Ash. Sheriff Littrell of this county returned here today with Harry, whom he had captured at Moberly, Mo.

"He waived preliminary examination today on the charges preferred against him, and was taken to the County Jall at Springer. Harry told the story of his companion, Phillips, having been drowned in the Arkansas River, near Haistead, Kam., on August 24, and that his body had been found and interred the following day. This is contradictory to private information that both Harry and Phillips had been located in Moberly about a week ago. It is now surmised that Phillips and Fraker were one and the same person, and that instead of having been drowned, Phillips, or Fraker, made his way to Minnesota, where he was arrested last Sunday, through the treachery of Harry. While living here, Phillips's conduct was such as to give the impression that he was a fugitive.

While awaiting the arrival of the German Emperor on board the cruiser New York during the inauguration of the North Sea and Baltic Canal at Kiel, the officers of the vessel were drawn up on the bridge, all in special full dress except the chaplain, who has no such uniform.

When Admiral Kirkland noticed the clerical garb of the chaplain, Rev. H. H. Clark, he held a hurried consultaon with Capt. Evans, commanding the New York, and ordered the latter to direct the chaplain to go below. Capt. Evans objected on the ground that the chaplain was in the only dress provided by the regulations of the department and, being an officer, had a right to b on the bridge. Then Admiral Kirkland gave a post-

Later in the day, Hoskler, Wood & Co. announced that they would require $1,000,000 in gold for shipment tomorrow, making a total of $1,100,000 ordered during the day.

Notwithstanding the continued gold shipments, the feeling in financial circles concerning the outlook was serene and hopeful. The possibility of the $100,000,000 being encroached upon as soon as the bond syndicate failed to continue to pour gold into the subtreasury does not seem to be considered. This is due to the expectation that the movement of crops to Europe will, before long, cause a plentiful supply of commercial bills to be in circulation and of necessity lower the rate of exchange to a figure which would practically prohibit the shipment of gold.

Turning to the charges that seats were bought in the United States Senate he laid the blame at the same door, those who elected Senators. He said: "There is one remedy. Abolish the present antiquated, clumsy, superflows and detrimental method of choosing Senators by Legislatures and let them be elected by a direct vote of the people of the State, as they ought to be elected."

This statement was loudly cheered. Ingalls went a step further and said that the only way to purify this government was to trust the people, and he even favored the election of President and Vice-President by a direct vote. HORRIBLE FATE OF AN OLD MAN NEW JERSEY.

Chickens for Two Strangers They Filled Him with Whiskey and Proceeded to Roast His Leg.

HACKENSACK (N. J.,) Sept. 3.— George Marshall, 67 years of age, a wood-chopper whose shanty is in the Ramapo Mountains, back of Oakland, is at the Hackensack Hospital suffering from a horrible burn. From the knee to the ankle of the right leg the flesh was burned almost to the bone and for ten days the wound has remained prac-tically untreated.

The old man lived in the hut on the nountain top with his son. On Friday, week ago, he says, two men came to his shanty in the morning. They a couple of chickens with them asked him to cook them. He knew they were stolen and refused to do as they were stolen and refused to do as they wished. They also had with them a gallon of whisky. When the old man would not comply with their wishes they began to torture him and he was made to drink some of the whisky. Finally, late in the afternoon, after torturing the old man for several hours the men built a fire in front of the shanty and began to carry out the old man's few belongings. These they piled on the flames. They then pulled off a portion of the front of the cabin and added this to the fire. The old man was too full of the whisky with which he had been piled to make much resistance.

which he had been piled to make much resistance.

Finally the old man says they picked him up and held his right leg in the flames made by his household goods, and, despite his pain and struggles, held him there until his leg roasted. They left him, he says, unconscious beside the fire. He was rescued by his son, who started to Oakland and asked a doctor to accompany him to the aid of his father. He says the doctor refused to make the trip. Failing to secure a doctor, the son bought a bottle of liniment and walked back to the mountain. He dressed the leg as best he could untilone of the sons-in-law of the old man visited the place. He insisted that Marshall should be taken where he might have medical treatment, and yesterday morning an ox team and a lumber wagon were obtained, and the man was carted down the mountain side in that rude vehicle to the railroad at Oakland. From that place he was taken by train to Hackensack.

The old man says the men who tortured him were Peter Winters and Jacob Coe, two young men who live near Oakland, and officers are looking for them. It is doubtful whether the old man will survive.

Outrageous Brutality on the Part of Capt. Murphy of the Ship Shenandoah.

He Compels the Crew to Get Down on Their Knees and Scrub in a Hailstorm.

Kicked in the Face with the Skipper's Heavy Boots-Also Beaten by the Mate,

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—(Special Dispatch.) The sailors on the fine American ship Shenandoah have decided to seek the arrest of the captain and third mate for cruelty on the high seas. The tale they tell of the vessel's trip from Liverpool is one of vivid interest. Among the things alleged is that a tar named Joe Johnson was for punish-ment compelled to holystone the deck in his own blood. The allegations are denied by Capt. Murphy and Third Mate Speler, against whom the charges

Mate Speler, against whom the charges are made.

"I never saw sailors abused in this way on any ship," said Sailor Mc-Laughlin, one of the Shenandoan's crew on board the ship. "Why, look at the forecastle, isn't it a pigsty? They have painted her aft and fixed up the captain's room, but we have to get slong in worse quarters than the prisoners in a jail. The trouble commenced at the very start. The captain wanted us to holystone the deck in a hallstorm. The third mate advised his watch not to do it and then drove us to work later. We wanted to refuse, but finally decided to turn to. Johnson and some other men were scrubbing away on the starboard side of the break of the poop and worked there until their knees got sore. They were kept at work as a punishment, because they thought it foolish to do such work in the midst of hall and snow. Johnson went to get a 'kneeler' to keep his sore knees off the deck.

"'Where are you going?' demanded the captain.

"'For a kneeler,' said Johnson.

"'Go back to work or I'll kneel you,' yelled the captain. The captain went below, and Johnson started for the 'kneeler' again. The third mate stopped him, and then went to Capt. Murphy and told him that Johnson said he did not care for the captain or the mate. The captain rushed out, furious; ran up to where Johnson was on his knees at work holystoning, and with his heavy sea boots kicked him in the face. He kicked two teeth down the poor man's throat. Johnson went forward, crying, and the third mate and captain ran after him, pounded him unmercifully and made him go back to work.

"For hours beyond his watch Johnson was kept at work holystoning. The blood was pouring from his face on the deck. He was holystoning the deck with his own blood for so long that every sailor on the vessel felt like mutiny. Once he complained, and the captain, with his heavy boots, kicked him again. When Johnson came forward again, we did not know him. For days his face was a sight." are made. "I never saw sailors abused in this

mportant Decision in Favor of the Secretary of the Interior has rendered three important decisions regarding the ownership of immensely valuable ac-eretion lands lying north of the Chicago River in the city of Chicago. The gist of the decisions is that the land does not belong to the United States does not belong to the United States government, but probably does belong to the State of Illinois.

The first case is that of George W. Streetor and P. T. Johnson, who applied to make homestead entry of about 150 acres of land lying on both sides of the Chicago River at its mouth in Lake Michigan. It is a portion of land filled in by dumping between meander line established by the government in 1821 and the present water dine. Johnson claims to have lived there in a house built on piles for sixteen years, and Streetor claims to have been wrecked there in 1886 and to have lived there for two years. Technically, this land is part of sections 3 and 10 of township 39, and these sections, the Secretary says, part of sections 3 and 10 of township 38, and these sections, the Secretary says, were selected by the State of Illinois in 1827 for canal purposes, under authority of an act of Congress.

The Secretary says the State of Illinois owns the lands under the navigable waters of Lake Michigan within its limits, and that the filling in by any person or corporations not the owner of shore lands gives them no riperian rights. In any case, he says, the United States government has no title and therefore could convey none to any claimant.

The second case is that of Jacob Nin and others against N. K. Fairbank and others. The former tried to locate military-bounty land warrants on 120 acres of accretion lands north of the Chicago River, between the original survey meander line and the present water line. The Secretary decided that the United States has no title to the land.

The third case is that of Peter Y. Johnson, who joined with Streetor in the first-named application to locate Valentine scrip on 55 acres of accretion lands south of the Chicago River. It is rejected, like the others, for want of title by the United States government.

Entopia for the Servant Girl. Servants seem to have the upper hand in Rio Grande do Sul, Brazil. They refuse to cook dinner later than 4 o'clock, and insist on going home before dark, so that not a house has a servant in it after 8, and mothers have to stay at home to look after their babies.

A Barkeeper Mistakes His Wife for Burglar-Treasure Huntershe Sacramento Carnival— Bandit Brady Arraigned.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—The trial of Theodore Durrant for the murder of Blanche Lamont in Emanuel Church, really began today. The courtroom was crowded to hear the opening statement of Dist. Atty. Barnes. At the request of the defense all witnesses in the case were excluded from the room during the address. The defendant listened at tentively to the statement of the chief rosecutor. At every point against m alluded to by the District Attorney, Durrant's brows contracted, and he continually whispered suggestions to his counsel.

The defendant's attorney objected to several statements in the address. They disliked an allusion to the conversation of the school girls who identified Durrant as the man who had walked off with Blanche Lamont. They also ob-jected to an explanation of the reason Mrs. Leak sat so long at her window or church with Durrant. The court overruled the second objection, but sustained the first.

Though counsel for the defense had said they would be willing to have the Blanche Lamont and Minnie Williams Blanche Lamont and Minnie Williams cases tried jointly, when the District Attorney referred to the finding of Minnie Williams's body, the defendant's counsel objected to the introduction of anything relating to the Williams murder which, he said, was the basis for a separate action. The court said he would permit reference to the discovery of Minnie Williams's body as an incident leading to the discovery of the body of Blanche Lamont. He said he would not rule as to the merging of the two cases until the question should be presented to him directly.

At the conclusion of the opening address the opposing counsel and the suggestion of the defendant's attorney, the court ordered that after recess the jurors, the defendant, the Judge and the official stenographer, in charge of the Sheriff, visit the scene of the murder in Emanuel Church.

In the course of his address today, Dist. Atty. Barnes said:

"At this point in the trial and before proceeding with the evidence, it becomes my duty as the representantive of the public to make a statement of the case. The opening statement should not be regarded by you in the light of testimony; neither should it be regarded as an argument upon the facts. It should not nave any weight with you, nor should you consider it as intigating against the prisoner. As merely a statement of what the people expect to prove a statement of the evidence which they intend to present for your consideration and upon which they will confidently rely for a verdict at your hands, which shall sweep away the sophistries and technicalities that have enveloped criminal proceedings in this State as with a garment, and shall declare that the land we live in is blessed not only with the manifold gifts of nature and of God to man, but is further blessed with the hard, clear common sense that can rise above the tortuous environments that surround the criminal and punish the crime committed in the manner required and demanded by all laws, both human and divine.

"We will show you that in the month of September, 1894, Blanche Lamont, a young girl about 20 years old, came to San Francisco from her home at Dillon, Mont., in the hope that the mild climate of California might benefit her health. She went to reside with the raunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Noble, and from the time of her arrival until April 3, she was engaged in attending school. She was not a society girl in any sense of the word. She rival until April 3, she was engaged in attending school. She was not a society girl in any sense of the word. She was of a quiet disposition, home-keeping and religious. She never attended parties nor theaters nor other places of amusement except in company with her relatives. We will show that Blanche Lamont in her lifetime was well, too well, and yet not well enough acquainted with the prisoner, Durrant; that he was in the habit of accompanying her home from church and prayermeeting; that lie was a caller upon her at her aunt's house; that upon the only occasion upon which she ever went away with a young man, as far as we are informed, she visited the park one afternoon in company with Durrant.

"We will give you a history of, her life and of her movements, as far as we are able, up to the 3d of April, 1895, in order that you may form a just appreciation of the character and the habits of the unfortunate young girl. We will show you her connection with the defendant and we will show you the the reason why, when the murdered body of Blanche Lamont was found in the darkened belify of Emanuel Church and the question sprang from the lips of every resident of this city and of this country, who is the murderer? why it is that the Stae answers that he who was responsible for the slaughter of this young life is William Henry Theodore Durrant; Durrant once in charge of the Sunday-school library; Durrant, once the slauday-school library; Durrant, once the handy man and jack of-al-trades at the church and now Durrant, the prisoner and on trial for his life. We shall show Durrant's connected the murder.

"If we show you these facts; if we show you that Durrant met this ill-fated girl on the day of her death; that he excompanied her to the church; that he was seen to enter the church with her; that was seen a live again by human eyes from the moment she entered the portals of Emanuel Baptist Church with the defendant; that in the church with the derive we have a sits officers are trying the she will be only leading the c room of the presiding judge to accommodate the crowds.

When Dist.-Atty. Barnes had concluded his opening address in the trial of Durrant this morning he turned to the prisoner and looked sharply at him. The Judge stared at Durrant, the jury stared at him, the courtroom clerks all turned to Durrant. The spectators, and their numbers were the limit of the courtroom's accommodation, all watched him. For the first time Durrant had heard the evidence against him martialled and massed and it seemed as if this sphinx of a man must give some sign of distress or indignation, fear or defiance. But never a graven image was more immobile than the face of Theodore Durrant as he looked straight into the District Attorney's eyes.

Before the day was over he was put to another test, a strain harder to bear and one that has broken down many men accused of murder. Durrant was taken to the scene of the crimes with which he is charged. He stood in the dusty little room where Minnie Williams was choked and gashed to death and the spot on which he stood was still dark with the stain of her blood. He was taken up the narrow stairs which he last traveled, if the theory of this crime be true, with his other helpless victim. He stood in the dark, grimy belfry where Blanche Lamont's body lay for ten days, until the finding of the other girl's body led to its discovery, and he remained there while the girl's books and clothing were hidden, and through it all he was unmoved. He brushed the dust from his coat and when he came back to the light he smiled to the people whom he knew. Before the day was over he was put Conservative estimates place the number of visitors expected in Sacramento next week at 30,000, and the city will, of course, be taxed to the utmost to accommodate them. There are numerous committees, however, who are endeavoring to provide for all comers. Hundreds of applications for rooms are coming in daily. The Native Sons claim that they will have accommodations for at least 10,000 guests and the Carnival Committee has a force of men at work hunting rooms for visitors. State Printer Johnson, a member of Sunset parlor, N.S.G.W., who is the grand marshal for the Electric Carnival today issued a flowery proclamation for the day's events, and announced the line of march, and gave the names of his aides. SPOKANE (Wash..) Sept. 3.—A sensation developed at today's meeting of the City Council when seven of ten members voted for the summary removal of Chief of Police Mertz. The most startling part of the proceedings was that the deciding vote against the Chief was cast by Councilman Byrd, who opposed the Chief's removal.

Byrd voted against the resolution for removal, then, under the impressin that the resolution had been adopted, changed his vote to yes in order to move to reconsider. The change of his vote gave the resolution the necessary two-thirds. He was kept busy the remainder of the afternoon explaining to his Democratic constituents how the only Democrat in the Council happened to vote to remove a Democratic Chief of Police.

An Associated Press dispatch from San Francisco says the possibility of a receivership for the Southern Pacific Company is an inference from the test timony given before the Railroad Com-missioners by G. L. Lansing, secretary and controller of the company, which is fighting a proposed reduction in freight rates. The statement was guarded with qualifying clauses and the possibility was set for the remote future. In the midst of his financial statement, Lansing declared that the reduction in the net income of 1894 from that of 1893 was $2,276,000, and to this statement was attached the receivership in-ference. This reduction, he declared was a striking amount. The question whether it was not due to abnorwould not be a return to better conditions. He thought there would be a re-turn to better conditions, but if this should not follow to some extent, then there would be a critical time for the railroad company. Of course the rail-road company could earry its indebted-ness for some time, but should the pres-ent state of affairs continue eventually, ent state of affairs continue eventually, reorganization through legal processes would ensue. The unsatisfactory condition at present was due to the general depression in all branches of business from which the railroad suffered in common with all other industries. According to Secretary Lansing the total income of the road for the first six months of this year was $14,791,000. The operating expenses and fixed charges for the same period were $16,267,000. The secretary therefore stated that there is a deficit for the first half of the year of $14,476,000.

PRESIDENT HUNTINGTON. SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—President C. P. Huntington, of the Southern dent C. P. Huntington, of the Southern Pacific, is expected to arrive here in the last days of this or the first days of next month. He will make a long stay, probably three months, as there are many important matters that require his attention. One of these is the succession to the position of general manager, made vacant by the death of A. N. Towne. This will be determined during Huntington's visit to San Francisco.

SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY. SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3 .- A short session of the directors of the San Joa quin Valley Railway was held today quin valley Kaliway was held today, and rights-of-way and route were considered. The location of the line to me Merced River was determined. It will run from Burneyville by the Empire crossing of the Tuolumne River, a distance of eight or nine miles from the town of that name. The route south of Merced will depend much upon the action of the people of that city.

NORTHERN PACIFIC RECEIVERS MILWAUKEE (Wis.,) Sept. 3.-A railroad man, who is close to the Northern Pacific receivers, said that Judge Hanford's decision at Seattle yesterday in the Northern Pacific recelvership case would not in any way affect the receivership except to transfer the legal business of the receivership from Milwaukee to some one of the courts that has jurisdiction in the country through which the road passes. He said:

country through which the road passes. He said:

"Judge Hanford has appointed the same receivers, and he cannot discharge them except for cause. When they were first appointed, the Northern Pacific had property in this district, and there was no doubt of the jurisdiction. The trouble came on the filing of the second bill of foreclosure. The Brayton-Ives faction may institute proceedings in some of the Western courts to oust the receivers, similar to the action which they brought in the Milwaukee court, but I hardly think it probable."

THE COVINA LINE. The telegraphic line on the new Co-vina branch of the Southern Pacific vina branch of the Southern Pacific was completed as far as Covina August 30. The Southern Pacific is now receiving freight for shipment to Covina. An operator has been stationed at Covina by the construction department in a temporary office, and the construction train is now carrying passengers between Covina and the junction of the Covina branch and the main line, to connect with the Chino local, which arrives at Los Angeles at 8:45 a.m., and with the Crafton local, arriving at Los Angeles at 4:42 p.m. Passengers going to Covina leave Los Angeles in the morning on the Crafton local at 10:10 a.m., and in the afternoon on the Chino local, leaving the Arcade Depot at 5:25 p.m., the construction train connecting at Woyden Junction. SCRAP HEAP.

The Phillips excursion for the East yesterday had forty-three passengers. On Admission day a through coach for Riverside will be attached to the 5:45 a.m. train from the Arcade Depot. Returning it will leave Riverside at 4:35 p.m., arriving at Los Angeles on the regular train at 6:50 p.m. This service is in addition to the wheelmen's special leaving at 7 a.m. from Los Angeles and 7 p.m. from Riverside.

The season of heavy travel over the Sunset route being close at hand, the Southern Pacific Company, to insure its local passengers always arriving at Los Angeles from Redlands and intermediate points on time, has arranged to start a local train from Redlands on the time of No. 20, whenever that train is an hour or more late. Naughty Maud Caldwell.

Naughty Maud Caldwell.

Maud Caldwell, a runaway girl, 17 years of age, was located yesterday in a questionable house on North Main street, by Humane Officer Hutchins. Her mother, who resides at Alhambra, was sent for, and pleaded with her daughter to give up her evil associations and return home. The girl, however, was defiant and said she preferred a life of shame to living at home. The mother said she would kill her and herself before she would allow her to go back to the den of vice. The daughter finally, on the threat of being vagged, consented to accompany her mother to Alhambra and promised to lead a new life, on condition that she would be sent East to her father. It appears that her parents were divorced years ago, and that the mother and child came to California. As the girl grew up, she became wayward and the mother had her committed to the Whittier State School. Mrs. Caldwell, however, married a well-to-do Alhambra rancher and then secured her daughter's release, but the girl ran away and drifted into a Los Angeles bagnio.

The Lunar Eclipse.

The eclipse of the moon occurred last aight on schedule time, as was to be expected. The astronomers never make a mistake in the prediction of such events, A very good view of it was had in this city up to the time of totality. A fog came up then and obscured the phenomenon for the rest of the night. Thousands of people were on the streets in the early evening watching the orb pass into the shadow. A telephone message from Echo Mountain at a late hour stated that a very satisfactory view of the eclipse was had through the big telescope. In this city the clouds and the eclipse combined caused Cimmerian darkness to prevail for several hours. The electric lighting company did not take cognizance of the fact, however.

Chamber of Commerce. "If you want an awful example of nature's inferiority to man, just taste those Catalina wild cherries," said the turtle. "Man has been cultivating the tame cherry until it is a luscious mouthful, while the wild cherry is a big stone with a mere black skin of fiesh around it. We have some pretty flowers here today; see those beautiful roses which came from Elysian Park, and that branch of Eucalyptus ficifolia, or red flowering eucalyptus, which came from Scharff & Schorting's nursery at South Pasadena. The other donations are few in number today, only some winter Pearmain apples from Bacon Bros., city, and a box of Ontario lemons from San Bernardino county."

Highway Robbery. Martin Jamison of Riverside yester-day reported to Sheriff Burr that he was assaulted and robbed between Puwas assaulted and robbed between Puente and El Monte Saturday evening while driving in a cart toward this city. He says he was knocked in the back of the head by some unknown person with a blunt instrument, and lay in the bottom of the cart, unconscious, about two hours. When he revived he found that he had been robbed of his watch and a suit of clothes, but some gold coin he had concealed about his person was overlooked. He succeeded in reaching El Monte, where the constable was notified, but no clew to the robbers has been found. A deputy sheriff is working on the case. Jamison is 60 years old, and does not seem to be much the worse for the rough treatment he received.

VENTURA COUNTY.

THE SENSATIONAL KAUFMAN WILL

farmers' Institute in Session-An other Shooting Scrape at Hue neme-Tragic Death of George

VENTURA, Sept. 3 .- (Regular Correspondence.) The Kaufman will contest is dragging its weary way along it Superior Court to the exclusion of all other business. The testimony so far introduced has been furnished seems to establish the fact that the testatrix was of sound mind and in no complaint. Mrs. King, the contestant, in giving her testimony, stated that her her marriage with Joseph King, on the ground that he was a Protestant. At this juncture the attorneys for the contestant asked permission to file an amendment to their complaint, in which the following allegations were made: "That undue influence was used by the Rev. Father John Pujole, parish priest, at New Jerusalem. That on January 4, 1895, he advised the deceased, then sick near unto death, to make a will disinheriting her daughter, Lizzle King; she having married a Protestant, and to bequeath her property to her 'good children.'" What the effect of this new phase of the case will be is now the point of vital interest in the litigation, as Louis Pfiler and his wife, Carrie Kaufman Pfiler, come under the same head, Pfiler being a Protestant, and no objection has been made to his participation in the benefit of the will as made. Some sensational testimony is looked for as the result of the searching cross-examination of Joseph King, which is now in progress. The case is attracting wide attention, the courtoom being crowded daily.

The case of Mrs. Nancy A. S. Taylor vs. William P. McGonigle, which will settle the disputed point of the boundary line of the Ventura river, has been set for argument on December 16, the only open date on the court calendar.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

The Farmers' Institute opened in Armory Hall yesterday (Monday) and is ground that he was a Protestant. At mory Hall yesterday (Monday) and is now in session. The attendance is large and the interest general. The farming interests are fully represented, and matters of general interest to fruit producers are under discussion. The hall is handsomely decorated, owing to the efforts of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gould and S. T. Cole. The display of fruit and farm produce is above the average of such displays in the matter of quality and quantity. The orchard of Lewis Walker in the Canada de Liargo is finely represented and furnishes an object lesson in fruit culture when now in session. The attendance is an object lesson in fruit culture when an object lesson in fruit culture when intelligently prosecuted.

The proceedings yesterday began with an address of welcome delivered by N. Blackstock. Prof. A. J. Cook responded and expressed himself as more than satisfied with the farm outlook in this section. An interesting paper on "Apricots and Their Culture" was then read by H. H. Cloud and taken under discussion. The institute will finish its deliberations tonight.

HILENEME GOSSIP

HUENEME GOSSIP. Hueneme is coming to the front as Hueneme is coming to the front as a prolific source of sensational news items. First a shooting scrape, then the Justice of the Peace furnished material for gossip in sentencing an inoffensive drunk to fifteen days in the County Jail for burglary, and now comes another morsel for the wiseacres to speculate over. Last Wednesday evening Eugene Bird narrowly escaped death at the hands of one Van Winkle, who took a pot shot at him through an auger hole in the side of the Van Winkle residence. Insane and unwarranted jealousy is the only excuse Van Winkle can give for the rash attempt at murder. Mrs. Van Winkle is a hard-working and respected member of Hueneme society and the consensus of opinion is decidedly in her favor. At the time Mr. Bird's life was jeopardized he was making a business call in reference to some sewing which had been done for him. The attempt to hush the matter up has only partially succeeded, as the shot and the excitement which ensued attracted considerable attention. No arrests have been made up to this writing. DEATH OF GEORGE GREEN.

George N. Green, 73 years of age, was prolific source of sensational news

George N. Green, 73 years of age, was killed by the Los Angeles passenger George N. Green, 73 years of age, was killed by the Los Angeles passenger train Monday morning at the crossing at the Tanner place above Santa Paula, as already announced by The Times. The deceased was one of the oldest residents in this county and was widely known and respected. About eight years ago he had the misortune to be run down by a freight train, sustaining serious injuries, including the fracture of two ribs. He began a suit for damages against the railroad company, which was finally compromised on payment of a good round sum. Green will be remembered by old-timers as the proprietor of a line of freight teams which did the bulk of the transportation business prior to the building of the Santa Barbara branch on the line of which he finally met his death. He was widely known as a local wit and humorist. He came originally from Kentucky and prided himself on his resemblance to Daniel Boone, whose Today was circus day, and, contrary to the usual rule, the show did not attract the crowd that was expected. It had been extensively advertised as the "Great Syndicate Show," but at a late hour, most of its paper was either blanketed by or covered with the flaming posters of Wallace's show, which will exhibit here later on. The usual three-ring performance was given with sideshows, etc., of the established styles. Quite a gang of sure-shot men followed in the wake of the company, but their harvest was very light, owing to the fact that the City Marshal, constables, etc., were fully prepared for them.

Hear ye the song of those who stand asunder From busy ways of men, Who hold communion with the nameless wender That haunts the misty glen;

Who love the wind that whistles through the sedges
And flecks the sullen pond,
The ruddy ploughland and the dripping hedge
And the blue hills beyond.

TO A SUNBEAM.

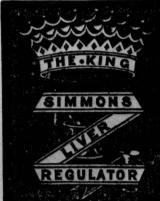

(Lighting on my lady sleeping.)
So lightly touch her dreaming head,
Nor sunder eyelids sealed asleep.
But fleck with fire the shining sweep
Of hair about her pillow shed,
So lightly come and go.

And lose yourself, and find yourself In tawny tangles of her hair; Content you with the golden snare, Nor venture like a saucy elf To stray below her chin.

On carven temples lightly lie,
Nor vex the amber eye that's hid
Neath either violet-veined lid;
Ah!—swoon across her cheek and die
Upon her fervent mouth.

For, having sipped the honey there,
You may not live another hour
To wanton with another flower
Nor burning rose—nor lily rare,
But perish in the kiss.

OFFICE OF THE TIMES.

Los Angeles, Sept. 3, 1895.

ENGLISH CAPITAL One of the encouraging features in connection with the development of California today is the readiness which is shown by Eastern and European investors to take hold of any well-founded properition that is presented to their notice in the line of investment, and this in spite of the many losses that have been experienced by such investors owing to wild and ill-judged schemes or faulty management.

The head of a prominent California real estate firm which has offices in San Francisco and Los Angeles returned to this State a few days ago from the East and Europe, where head been to arrange for European capital to develop some of the large unimproved ranches of Southern California. In an interview with a reporter of the San Francisco Chronicle he gave the following encouraging information in regard to the results of his trip:

"I came back fully satisfied that the fight kind of property can be floated in believe that California is the freeferd field for investment in that line. Don't let me be understood as saying that everything in California can be sold. Mining property can be floated in the line of the statisfaction of the southern Coast Savings southers of the satisfaction of the southern Coast Savings Soutery, of which I am president, I was eminently successful in this work. The bonds were accepted and the first issue of $100.000 in money has been sent for $100.000 in money has I believe that California is the preferred field for investment in that line. Don't let me be understood as saying that everything in California can be sold. Mining property showing good prospects or actual earnings can be sold and good bonds on current local securities can be placed. I think there are half a dozen large estates in California which can be sold to syndicates on the other side at their true value, based on the actual income earned or, if the clear merit of property can be demonstrated to the satisfaction of the investors. The especial object of my trip was the placing of debenture bonds of the Southern Coast Savings Society, of which I am president. I was eminently successful in this work. The bonds were accepted and the first issue of $100,000 in money has been sent for and the same people will take the different series as our board of directors may deem it advisable to place money on first mortgages in California."

This firm will open a large office in London and expects to induce the investment of much English capital here during the next few years.

If Southern California capitalists were more ready to assist in the development of the large tracts of uningroused and the development of the outside lands in Southern California, a fact which The Times has frequently deplored. Not only do Southern California capitalists as a rule refuse to put up money to develop our vacant lands, but they are, as has frequently been shown, much averse to lending money on improved and productive country land, even when it is paying a good income, apparently forgetful of the fact that the prosperity of our cities is directly dependent upon the success of the farming community. Such being the case, it is certainly in the line of wisdom to give all reasonable inducements to the investment of outside capital in the development of unimproved tracts in this section by the introduction of a desirable class of immigrants, who bring with them some means and a desire to create for themselves productive homes.

If Southern California capitalists were more ready to assist in the development of the large tracts of unimproved land that exist in this section it might be well to deprecate the idea of getting foreign capital to do the work, but the fact is that the greatest difficulty is experienced in persuading local capitalists to take up anything connected with the development of the outside lands in Southern California, a fact which The Times has frequently deplored. Not

The Japanese are making themselves very severely felt in the labor market in San Francisco. It is stated that the immigration to that city of Japanese is equal to the total immigration of all other nationalities.

Then, in addition, Japan, there is Chira, which is now awakening from the indifference of centuries in regard to outside business. There are some who believe that we are now confronted with the greatest industrial problem ever faced by any other preceding age in the threatened competition of over 500,000,000 of people, or; including East India, over 700,000,000. India has already taken away from Scotland the bulk of the jute industry, which is not surprising, considering that in India laborers are satisfied with 6 cents a day, boarding themselves. India has increased the product of its cotton goods fourfold in the past four years, and it is said that in four years more will cease importing cotton goods from England entirely. Here are some striking facts in regard to wages in oriental countries, which were recently given by Maj. Pearce of St. Paul before the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, Maj. Pearce having just returned from a trip around the world:

IRON IN SOUTHERN CALIFOR-NIA. Now that the fuel question in this section appears to have been solved, the next important step to be solved, the next important step to be taken is to ascertain what natural products we have that may be profitably worked up here. From time to time statements have been published in regard to deposits of iron ore in Southern California, but little of a definite character has ever been published on the subject, and a majority of the people believe that the deposits are of more value on paper than otherwise. In the August number of the Manufacturer, a new monthly publication devoted to the manufacturing interests in Los Angeles, St. John Day commences a series of articles on the iron and steel industry, and its future greatness for Southern California, in which he gives some interesting information regarding our iron ore deposits and those of the southwestern section of the United States in general. The writer shows that the iron ore deposits of this section are exceptionally rich, extending over a considerable area of country. Deposits of iron ore are found in all the counties of Southern California, as well as in Lower California, Arizona and Utah.

One of the iron deposits mentioned is in Los Angeles county, about forty miles north of the city, in the Cedar Hill Mining district, near Lang's Station. What Mr. Day says is the most remarkable deposit of iron ore on the Pacific Coast is in San Bernardino county, about 150 miles from Los Angeles, on the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad. The leading features of this body of ore are stated to be its wast extent, its richness and freedom from impurities, and the presence of several varieties of iron ore. The lower part of the ore body is said to be not only remarkably pure, but magnetic. The outcroppings average 300 feet, in width, and may be traced for a distance of three miles. It has been estimated that there are disclosed not less than 1,000,000 tons of ore, and that in the cuts and tunnels that have been made enough ore is in sight to last California for the next 100 years.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

Shares and Money.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—The stock market today was marked by a broader movement than has been noted for some time past. The opening was influenced by higher prices for American securities in London by the receipt of buying orders of that account for receipt of buying orders of that account for St. Paul Atchison, Union Facific and Louisville and Nashville. A movement in Southwestern securities was a strong feature of the day's operations, and this was also stimulated to a considerable extent by purchases. The strength of the speculation received some impetus from the revival of the periodical rumors of an impending early settlement of the differences between the leading anthracite coal companies, involving a speedy rehabilitation of the Reading properties. An additional favorable development was the deposit of $2,000, 000 in gold by the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, which was inferred to be for the account of the government bond synliate.
Up to the close of business the gold had not been turned over to the treasury. The July statement of operations of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad had a favorable effect upon the securities of that company. About the only depressing factor was the engagement of $1,150,000 gold for shipment tomorrow. The strength of the market generally was maintained up to the end of the first hour, when realizations caused a decline of 1 per cent.
respectively in New Jersey Central and American Tobacco. The other declines were fractional. The upward movement was resumed about mid-day and with unimportant exceptions was continued up to the close. In the final dealings American Tobacco on free sales reacted 2 per cent. from the best figures of the day. Atchison advanced 15; per cent.; Faelfic Maill, St. Paul and Rio Grande Western,

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—The Evening Poat's London cablegram says that; after a dull opening, the market closed good all around. The recovery was especially noticeable in Kaffirs. Denver and Rio Grande preferred was a strong feature again. The tone throughout was bullisb. London Silver.

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Wheat opened strong and sold up %c above the close Saturday's close. The early indications were regarded as favorable for bulls. Cables came strong and higher. The early indications were practically nothing, but the most bullish feature was the smallness of the world's shipments last week, which aggregated only 5,120,000 bushels. The amount on ocean passage showed a decrease of 1,780,000 bushels during the last week, and the primary receipts and local inspection were again much smaller than those of the same day last year. These combined to make a strong market for a time and there was a good sharp advance, December selling to 6%. as against 6% at the close Saturday. But there was very little outside trade and the local bulls soon tired and business became dull. December closed 1%c lower. Corn was week on good crop reports. The friends of better sanitary conditions for this place were out in force today, and it was early in evidence that if the sewer bonds were defeated it would have to be by a still hunt, whose silence was impressive. No sufficient argu-ment was offered at any time during ment was offered at any time during the canvass upon the subject to warrant an effort against the improvement. LAW AND CONSCIENCE.

The Times recently commented upon the statement accredited to Rev. John ford, a Catholic priest of Brooklyn the effect that "the church canno interfere with the state, but she can say that a law is unjust and that it ay not be obeyed." This journal, in the course of its comment on the above claration, said in substance that the ource of all authority is the people who alone have power to make and inmake laws; that laws once made nust be obeyed until repealed; and that "no man or class of men can have the right to disobey laws so long as those laws remain unrepealed." these comments the Monitor, of San Francisco, takes exception, and among other things says:

"The same arguments now offered by The Times were offered of old by the defenders of slavery. Slavery was the law of the land and no man and no class f men had the right to disobey laws o long as those laws remained un-epealed.' The abolitionists appealed o the higher law and history has sustained their appeal. The same problem has always confronted legislators. There is in each man the power of saying this action is right and that action is wrong. This judgment is conscience. It is quite possible that conscience may condemn certain laws as wrong and all the people in the world cannot give a man the right to act against his conscience.

This liability to a conflict between civil law and conscience belongs to Protection law and conscience belongs to Protest-antism just as much as it does to Catholicism. It arises from the constitution of human nature and no de The American policy of removing what are likely to be conscientious matters n the sphere of the civil law has to date been the most successful. the American system is not thorh going. For instance, it will not by the excuse of conscientious conviction to avail in the practice of poly-gamy. But no law, however far it may go, illavail to avert this radical and necesary conflict entirely. All it can do is to inty conflict entirely. All it can do is to minimize the chances of its occurrence. The doctrine therefore that the church may pronounce a law unjust is only another form of saying that any man's conscience may pronounce a law unjust. THE TOUGH PROBLEM.

Strong Plea for Protection from This

Element for Sonoratown.

The following statement, quoted from Saturday's Times, is of deep concern to the residents of Sonoratown:

LOS ANGELES. (No. 221 Franklin street,) Sept. 1, 1895.—To the City Council—Gentlemen: "It was decided to remove the women from Alameda street to a less frequented thoroughfare; but while other locations for their settlement were discussed, such as Sonoratown and the districts 'east of their present quarters, no decision was arrived at in the matter."

May I be permitted to ask the following questions:

mg questions:
Why choose Sonoratown or any other ongested district of our city? The Second Ward of Los Angeles, of which Sonoratown forms a portion, is a neg-lected district—lacking in most of those things which our modern civilization (?) demands for the make-up of human hap-piness. But lawns, flowers, trees side-walks, well-watered streets seem really piness. But lawns, nowers, trees sidewalks, well-watered streets seem really of no importance when one comes to consider the actual homes of these people. Most of the houses are tenements, often a family of eight living, eating, sleeping and trying to be very decent in two, sometimes three, very small rooms.
Family life is at high pressure. The young men and women are daily open to temptations of which their brothers and sisters from protected west-end homes can have little conception, and yet their lives are as pure as those who live under the more favorable conditions. Of this there can be no doubt.
As a matter of course, their early training is on the sidewalk, and later the boy may or may not frequent the corner saloon, while the girl, by a courage of which she is scarcely aware, keeps her purity. But, at best, existence is a struggle.

If Alameda street is to be relieved of

struggle.

If Alameda street is to be relieved of its "board fence," will it be placed where these young men and women will be an easy prey to it? Will one iota be added to their struggle for purity? Poverty and its consequent vices is burden enough. Why even suggest that Sonoratown is to be the future abode of this evil? Rather remove it to the districts where the homes have the protection of a fair environment—to some of the well-lighted districts, where police surveillance can the better accomplish its purpose M. A FAREWELL MEETING. Edward Chapin Says Good-by Be

Mrs. Clara L. Chapin was for years a missionary in China, and all her seven children were born there. Every one of them is to be a missionary. One daughter is already engaged in the work, and Ed Chapin will start for China at once to enter the field. Peniel Hall was overflowing last evening with friends, who gathered to bid the young man farewell.

great work to which he felt called, and of the immense opportunities which lay before him. For years he had been looking forward to a missionary's life, and at last his opportunity had come. Mr. Chapin said a few tender words as to leaving his mother and his friends, but declared that he wanted no higher joy than to go to China.

The Rev. Ng Poon Chew was the next speaker. In a witty, yet earnest and tender address he congratulated Mr. Chapin on attaining the dearest wish of eyery Chinaman's heart on returning to his native land. In former days there was a tendency to ship all the stupid, lazy, good-for-nothing ministers off to foreign lands' as missionaries; but now people realized that sters on to toreign lands as missionaries; but now people realized that men of brains and education were needed for the work, for Christianity will be the regeneration of China and lift her yet to a lofty place among the nations of the earth.

Mrs. Ferguson jumped up: "It seems to me that we need no stronger encouragement in our work than Mr. Chew. He is a living proof that a Chinaman can be converted."

A number of Chinamen who were present now errors and san's hymnite.

A number of Chinamen who were present now arose and sang a hymn together, to the delight of the audience. Next Mrs. Thompson was introduced and said a few words. Mrs. Thompson is 70 years of age, but two years ago cheerfully sent forth her son as a missionary in Africa. Now she, too, is preparing to set forth, and will go to Monrovia, Liberia, to work among the people there. She will be once more with her son.

Mrs. Chapin was the last speaker, and told of her resolve, taken years ago, that all of her children should go forth to the field in which she herself had long tolled; and now she sends forth the second one with a heart overflowing with joy and pride.

As a conclusion to the service, all those who were willing to go to work for the cause of Christ were asked to stand, and about half the audience arose.

A DREADED DISEASE. Vaccinating Stock to Protect Them

Since a large proportion of the kansas City cattle come from Texas, it seemed possible that Los Angeles might be exposed to infection from cattle brought from Arizona and New Mexico, so close to Texas, which furnish meat to Southern California.

Dr. William J. Oliver, the veterinary contract in the sub-

Southern California.

Dr. William J. Oliver, the veterinary surgeon, was interrogated on the subject. "Texas fever is only another name for anthrax, one of the most deadly diseases known," said he. "In the evening a cow is apparently in perfect health. When morning comes, she lies dead, or, if still alive, is dropping, herears hang down, the secretion of milk has entirely stopped, and the discharges are bloody. It is only very rarely the animal recovers, and almost always death comes in from twelve to thirty-six, hours. Not only cattle, but also horses, mules and sheep succumb to its attacks.

There has just been an outbreak twenty miles north of Riverside. "But how can the disease be guarded against?"

"By vaccination," answered the doctor. "The vaccine has to be imported from Paris, from the Pasteur Institute. It is not made regularly anywhere in America. For a while I prepared it for myself, but now I have gone back to importing it. Of course, great care has to be taken, and the animal vaccinated twice. It will then be immune for a year at least. This work is being done in at least sixteen States already. The day will come before long when it will be done everywhere in a scientific way, and then the dread disease will be en-"tirely stamped out."

Mistaken Identity.

The man Grant who was arrested last Saturday night for being drunk and saturday night for being drunk and fighting was Alexander Grant, not D. F. Grant, who was slashed with a knife by Mason Bradfield about a year ago. The Times information was based on statements made by police officers, who, it seems, were mistaken as to the identity of the prisoner.

INDIANS EXCULPATED. Gen. Coppinger on the Jackson Hole

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.-Gen. Coppinger, who had command of the recent military expedition to the Jackson-Hole country, today had a conference with Secretary Lamont, to which Commis-sioner of Indian Affairs Browning was invited

"I do not consider that the Indians were to blame for the Jackson-Hole affair," said Gen. Coppinger at the close of the conference. "They are entirely quiet now, and have been. In fact, they would not say boo to a goose."

One question which the general brought to the attention of Secretary Lamont and Commissioner Browning was the advisability of annexing the Jackson-Hole country to Yellowstone National Park. He suggested that this action would solve the problem by preventing all parties hunting and fishing in that section and said, as the country was not densely settled, he thought there would be comparatively little difficulty in making the change.

Commissioner Browning said that in the first place it would be a matter for Secretary Smith and then for Congress, adding that he did not know how the people of Wyoming would regard it, as it would deprive that State of territory.

Gen. Coppinger's report on the Indian troubles has been turned over to Secretary Lamont. The general declined to say whether he made any recommendations for the continuance of the troops in the Jackson-Hole country, or for the punishment of the participants in the trouble.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Tax Levy Considered and Fixed by the Council.

by the Council.

During the noon recess of the Council Acting-Mayor Teed received a telegram from Justice Beatty giving the information that no decision with regard to the legality of the refunding bonds would be given before today. September 3. When this news reached the Councilmen it was decided, after an informal discussion of the matter, to fix the tax levy at once irrespective of the legality of the bonds. The matter was in the hands of the Finance Committee, and the Council, after meeting at 2 o'clock, adjourned until 4 o'clock to allow the committee sufficient time for the presentation of the report upon the subject. But very little work remained to be done, however, some slight revision of the figures of City Clerk Luckenbach as prepared last week and published in The Times of Sunday being all that was necessary. The full report of the committee is as follows: TAX LEVY FIXED.

TAX LEVY FIXED.

"In the matter of establishing the tax levy for the current fiscal year, your Finance Committee beg leave to make the following report:

"The matter has been delayed until the last possible moment for the purpose of ascertaining if possible the decision of the Supreme Court in the matter of the legality of the funding bonds recently voted, but the sale of which was not consummated by reason of their legality having been questioned by the bond purchaser in New York. This matter was taken before the Supreme Court upon mandamus, and it was confidently hoped that a decision would be reached by the 1st of September, but the City Attorney has shown us a dispatch received from the Chief Justice.

vised and instructed that it is our duty at this time to fix a tax levy which in-cludes a sufficient sum to pay off a cer-tain amount of the principal and in-

at this time to fix a tax levy which includes a sufficient sum to pay off a certain amount of the principal and interest on the debt attempted to be funded. Of this debt $76,000 is past due and the bonds have been presented for payment. This debt of the Gity has been running since the year 1876.

"Your committee might add find if former city officials and former Councils had created sinking funds $2 required by law and as required by terms of the lisue of these bonds, that the burden of taxation would have been more evenly distributed.

"By an inspection of the tables herewith presented you, will notice that the amount of money apportioned to the several funds for municipal purposes is not larger than similar amounts raised by taxation during the last year; except for the fact that the sum of 4%c has been added to the salary fund, the total amount would be virtually the same, or, perhaps a little less than what was raised last year for municipal purposes. The fact that there is a deficit of some $25,000 in the salary fund which must be raised by taxation is due to the abolishment of the merchants' license tax, which has made that amount of difference in the revenue of the city. The difference in the rate of last year and the rate which is to be fixed this year, to-wit: the difference between $1.20 and $1.40, is due entirely to the amount set aside for the salary funds for the bonds which we attempted to fund, and which was unsuccessful.

"In figuring the general rolls, the basis of the levy is $48,801,270, and a successful.

"In figuring the general rolls, the basis of the levy is $48,801,270, and a levy of .002049 per $100 will produce $999,938; upon this basis the following schedule is made for general funds:

GENERAL FUNDS.

Street sprinkling ... 40,000 .0830 44,017.08
Street sprinkling ... 55,000 .0717 24,990.52
Totals 4488,010 .9922 3484,548.00
"In making the estimate for the bond funds, the same has been made with a basis of 348,000,000, allowing $801,270 for errors, doubles, etc., which, while a smaller percentage of allowance than has heretofore been made, appears to be sufficient with the accuracy with which the books have been made during the past several years. On this basis a levy of .002083 per $100 will produce $999.84. In figuring the bond funds, of those bonds covered by the $396,000 of refunding bonds, we have taken the amount of the bond unpaid with the length of time yet to run, and made it upon a basis of an equal levy each of the succeeding years for the principal, and add thereto the interest due for the current fiscal year. Of the bonds of 1870, which were due August 1, 1895, $76,000 was the total face of the bonds due, but provision has been made to provide for the payment of $34,000 of this issue from other sources, otherwise the tax levy would have been abount $34,000 of this issue from other sources, otherwise the tax still larger. Upon this basis a levy for bond funds would be necessary as folfollows:

THE COUNTY JAIL.

INSTITUTION.

Characteristics of Some of the Prisoners—John Craig and "Kid" Thompson Under the Death Watch—Wong Chuey the Pet of

A Times reporter who made a hasty inspection of the County Jail yesterday found everything in that institution in a serene and orderly condition. Jailer Kennedy and his able corps of assistants evidently understand their business and keep things in ship shape. Their treatment of the prisoners appears to be kind and humane and it is seldom that there is any trouble. A "crazy" occasionally proves difficult to "crazy" occasionally proves difficult to handle, but fortunately the violent lu-natics are few and far between.

At the present time the jail is not so crowded as it usually is during the win-ter months. The average number of inmates for some time past has not much exceeded eighty. The prisoners represent nearly all manner and degrees of crime. There are seven inmates at the present time, charged with murder. Of these, the most notorious and longest confined are John Craig and "Kid" Thompson, both under sentence of death, but with appeals pending.

Craig, the triple murderer, who was condemned to the gallows for the butchery of his wife and her aged parents, has been in the jail since July 26, 1894. He was to have gone to San Quentin in February, there to have the death sentence executed, but his departure has been delayed pending the decision of his appeal to the Supreme Court. The prisoner has never lost hope and looks forward to a favorable decision in October. His appeal was on a mere technicality of law and it may be possible that a retrial will be ordered, but even in that event Craig's chances to escape the gallows are not good. The probability is that he will be hanged for his crime, ultimately, unless he should die of old age or other physical infirmities while the courts and lawyers are quibbling over technicalities. Craig is a very good prisoner and gives the turn-keys little trouble. The tenacity to which he clings to every straw of hope that his neck will not be stretched is almost pathetic.

The next oldest prisoner in murderer's row, as regards length of term of imprisonment, is "Kid" Thompson, the convicted train-robber, who has been in jail since November 22, 1894. Thompson, as well as Craigs, has been under the sleepless eye of the death watch for some months past. Unlike Craig, he is not a patient prisoner. He is morose and restless as a caged hyena. His case has been appealed on the same grounds as Craig's, and the decision may be the same also. Occasionally a kind lady brings flowers to the "Kid," for which act of kindness he shows such gratitude as he is capable of, but "Kid's" is not a gallant nature.

The third and last convicted murderer in the jail is shown and the most distinguished prisoner within its walls

Another man-killer who gives the keepers no trouble whatever is J. Bidwell Errington, the slayer of Herbert Jones. Errington does not display the least sign of viciousness, his demeanor being more like that of a sixteen-year-old boy than a man of 25. He seems to lack energy, and it is lassitude more than melancholy that makes him subdued and quiet. Errington has been in the County Jall since June 21, and his trial has been set for October 7.

Another model prisoner who has to answer for the taking of a human life is Frank Roemer of Downey. He is an exceedingly modest and well-behaved young man, and does not even take all the privileges accorded him. The impression about the jail is that Roemer would never have shot his victim if he had not been driven to a point where he thought he had to do it in self-defense or could not retreat with honor. Roemer has been in since July 15, and is awaiting trial.

The seventh and last prisoner in the murderers' row is the most ill-favored of them all—Giovanni Carrazzi. The other prisoners shun him as they would a snake. His demeanor is sullen, and his eyes have the restless motion of a caged wild animal. He is allowed two hours' exercise daily, but is kept under the closest watch as the keepers have Another man-killer who gives the not yet analyzed his character to their full satisfaction, and think him capable of treachery. He has been in since August 5, and is also awaiting trial. Besides the actual man-slayers there are several prisoners for assault to murder, assault with a deadly weapon, etc., and various grades of felons whose cupidity got them into trouble. Among the latter is Al Cobler, who has been sentenced to five years' confinement in State's prison for embezzling public moneys. Cobler's appeal was recently decided adversely, but he was granted thirty days' stay of execution pending the efforts of his friends to get him pardoned. He has been in the County Hospital a good portion of the time he should have been in jail, and is still a very sick man. His faithful wife visits him regularly and ministers to his infirmities.

Van Sciever, another convicted embezzler, has an appeal pending in the Supreme Court, and thereby hopes to keep out of State's prison. He bears up well under his incarceration, and is frequently visited by his wife, son and brother.

There are only three female prisoners at the present time—Jennie Riley (colored,) awaiting trial on the charge of assault to murder; Mrs. Mary E. Garry, awaiting examination for grand larceny, and Chung Chee, a Chinese woman sentenced to deportation.

There are very few commitments for vagrancy during the summer months, but winter always fills the tanks with roaming hobos.

Before the Council adjourned a committee from the Board of Education waited upon the Council with a resolution adopted by the board at a meeting held yesterday morning, reading as follows:

lution adopted by the board at a meeting held yesterday morning, reading as follows:

"The Board of Education at a meeting held September 3 adopted the following resolution:

"Resolved, that the City Council be requested to purchase the lot adjoining the Thirtleth-street school, and we also recommend to the honorable City Council the purchase of an additional site in the Seventh Ward.

"We, the Board of Education of the city of Los Angeles, having learned that the site for a school building in the Fifth Ward has not been paid for, and if not too late, do hereby remonstrate and ask for an immediate reconsideration of the selection of this site. There is no possible use for this school building, and $25,000 or $30,000 will be expended which can be used to great advantage in other parts of the city. The four-room building at Eighteenth street and Union avenue and the eight-room building, at the corner of Seventeenth and Georgia Bell streets are each but four blocks distant. Your honorable body must know that our member from that ward is unalterably opposed to it, and we consider it a wrongful waste of public inoney at the present time when we so badly need it in other parts of the city. It is not too late to stop this error in judgment, and if no site can be obtained further south, then we pray that the funds may be used in other parts of the city for school purposes."

tion of a school site to the Council, and then criticizing the choice made by the Council, as a rather ill-advised and inconsistent proceeding. Acting-Mayor Teed was present when the resolution was read, and made a vigorous speech condemning the statement of President Hale of the Board of Education to the effect that a school was not needed in the Fifth Ward. "When Mr. Hale makes that statement," said Mr. Teed, "he simply does not know what he is talking about. "The point was raised by Councilman Ashman that Director Grubb of the Seventh Ward was spreading the rumor that because the Councilman from this ward is a Democrat, therefore the ward is not getting its share of the school funds from the Council. Inasmuch as a Republican member of the Council was alleged to have made some such statement, each Republican Councilman considered it necessary to arise and deny the rumor "so far as it pertained to himself." Then Councilman Ashman softly stated that Acting-Mayor Teed was alleged to the guilty man. Mr. Teed denied the allegation and expressed the logs he felt for the Seventh Ward and its inhabitants. The resolution of the board was at length referred back to the body, which adopted it, and the Council adjourned to Thursday at 2 o'clock.

POLICE COMMISSIONERS.

Some Reformatory Measures Wer-Adopted by the Board.

Police Commissioners, new and old, were present in full force yesterday morning, when Acting Mayor Teed called the board to order, and requested the clerk to proceed with the business before the commission.

The applications for saloon license The applications for saloon licenses from F. Hoffman, at No. 255 Wolfskill avenue; D. Comandich, No. 110 North Alameda street, and Overwig Bros., at No. 235 South Spring street, were referred to the Chief and the clerk read the resolutions from the Ministerial Union, which were received by the Council last week and referred by that body to the Police Commission. The resolutions simply requested of the Council that competent men be appointed to the then vacant seats on the board, and inasmuch as the appointments have been made, as the Councilmen knew they would be before the resolutions could reach the Police Commission, nothing remained to be done but to order them filed. It was easy to proceed from the resolutions to the social evil, and "fence" problems, hence it was with no abruptness of transit that Commissioner Wirsching called the attention of the commission, to the need of taking action with regard to the removal of the fence on Alameda street. The motion made to remove the fence was promptly adopted by the board and a similar motion to from F. Hoffman, at No. 255 Wolfskill Alameda street. The motion made to remove the fence was promptly adopted by the board and a similar motion to disperse the occupants of the cribs at the junction of Alameda and Los Angeles streets received a like reception from the commissioners. The programme for this proceeding was agreed upon last week, at the secret session held in the Mayor's private office, when the Councilmen and commissioners agreed upon a policy concernig the disposition to be made of the social evil as it exists on Alameda street. The commissioners announce that after the removal of the fence from the street the cribs and their

on Alameda street. The commissioners announce that after the removal of the fence from the street the cribs and their occupants will be made to follow suit. Reports were received from the Chief, with regard to the violations by several saloons of the Sunday-closing ordinance. The following salcons were included in the list: Sunrise, at the southwest corner of First and Los Angeles streets; Vendome, corner of First and Vine streets; Al Barrell, First and Wilmington streets; Golden Leaf, No. 233 East First street; Wolfe, Ord and New High streets; National, Ord and Buena Vista streets, and the saloon at the southeast corner of First and Los Angeles streets. It appearing that the Vendome, the Sunrise and the saloon at the southeast corner of First and Los Angeles streets are persistent violators of the Sunday-closing ordinance, their licenses were revoked by the commission. The clerk was instructed to notify the remainder that another violation of the law would result in a revocation of their licenses. Attorney Mitchell appeared before the board to withdraw the application made by George Berenstein for a liquor license at No. 1328 West Second street, concerning which there has been some feeling raised. C. E. Lynch petitioned the board to reconsider the action by which he was denied a license for a saloon at No. 1538 San Fernado street, but his petition was denied.

He argued it would be a public benefit and therefore a matter of justice that the Traction Company should have benefit and therefore a matter of justice that the Traction Company should have the same chance as the old company in the occupancy of a public street.

After hearing the arguments advanced Judge Pierce remarked from the bench that there were certain new applications of some of the principles of law brought out in the arguments submitted. This being the case he felt it would not be right for him to decide the case at once. He hoped, however, to be able to decide it today, but in any event would decide it before returning to San Diego, which he expected would be within four or five days. He thereupon adjourned court till this morning.

Nothing can be more remote from the truth. Study is a delight, not a misery. It is favorable to health and screnity of mind. Scholarship is most usually long-lived. BOARD OF EDUCATION.

THE OVER THE QUESTIO SCHOOL SITES.

the Council to Change the Order of some Things—A Suggestion of Phyto's and Coffins for Two.

A special meeting of the Board of Education Began peacetuily yesterday mothing with the opening of bids for the buildings on the Grimn-avenue school grounds. East Los Angeles, and at the corner of Cambria and Vernon streets. J. C. Whittaker's bid for the former was accepted for the sum of $136, and the latter went to C. A. Holden at $206. The Gardner-Zellner Company's bid for planes, at the rate of $350 and $4 per month, was accepted.

The Huilding Committee was instructed to rent rooms where needed for schoolrooms.

Structed to rent rooms where needed for schoolrooms.

The members of the board were all present, with the exception of Dr. Wills.

After the bids were disposed of, the fun began when Mr. Bassett moved the purchase of the lot to extend the Thirtieth-street school ground. Pandemonium reigned, everybody talked at once, and if glances had been endowed with fatal power, there would have been eight dead men strewn about the floor of that office.

The question of a third school being built in the Fifth Ward, where there are already two schools, was discussed amid wild excitement. It was found that the people in that ward did not have children enough to fill another school, and never expected to have. Mr. Garland came down on the proposition like a load of bricks. Mr. Simonton said that he understood that the voters of the city did not vote intelligently about the apportionment of the money. said that he understood that the voters of the city did not vote intelligently about the apportionment of the money. Mr. Fulton believed the action of the Council to be arbitrary, and that it had overstepped its authority when it made the apportionments. He thought the Council should throw in what money was left over in some wards, and put in where mosted needed. Mr. Grubb was sure no member of the school board wished to do any injury to the Seventh Ward. He was moved to grief that no councilman in his ward was looking out for the rights of that ward.

Finally, out of this apparently hopeless choas, emerged a resolution embodying three decisions, moved by Mr. Simonton, as a substitute for that of Mr. Bassett, that the City Council he recommended to allow $1600 for the purchase of a lot to extend the Thirtiethstreet school site; also, that the achool site of the Seventh Ward, corner of Aruse and Sen Pedro street street in street school site; also, that the school site of the Seventh Ward, corner of Azusa and San Pedro streets, or in that vicinity, be purchased; also, that if the site in the Fifth Ward be not purchased, and if already purchased by the Council, the idea of a schoolhouse being built upon it, be abandoned.

This was carried, Messrs. Kennedy, Garland, Pitman, Grubb, Fulton and Simonton voting for it, and Messrs. Hale and Bassett against it.

Mr. Garland's motion that the resolution be embedied and carried directly by a committee, to the Council, was carried.

by a committee, to the Council, was carried.

This was all very well, and peace seemed about to settle in the most approved, booding-dove style over the late scene of turmoil, when the President proceeded to appoint the aforesaid committee of three, to beard the Council in its den. There was a hasty grabbing for watches, and digging up of unbreakable appointments, and no-body of all that stalwart gang, seemed anxious or even willing to bear to the Council, the resolution so lately passed by a large and determined majority. Finally, Messrs, Carland, Simonton and Fulton, were appointed, though not without many and vigorous, but unavailing, wriggled by Mr. Simonton, to extrigate himself.

Charles H. Strange, the architect, then hove in view with his plans for the new school building in the Third Ward, borner of Olive and Fourth streets. Whether the wished-for assembly-room should be arranged on the third floor of the Soring-street school, or in the new Third Ward school was another question that caused an eloquent flow of language from all the inembers simultaneously. Matters between Mr. Pitman and Mr. Grubb finally became so warm and brimstony that some one suggested "pistols and coffins for two."

Mr. Garland rose in his dignity, pro-that some one suggested partity, pro-coffins for two."

Mr. Garland rose in his dignity, pro-cured the floor, and moved that the ar-chitect make the assembly-room in the Olive-street school, according to his plans. This motion was carried, evi-dently much to the relief of the be-wildered architect.

The meeting then adjourned, to meet-again this evening at 8 o'clock.

United States statutes officers empowered to administer the necessary caths to pensioners free of charge, yet there is a difficulty in the way of the pensioners all going to United States officers for this purpose.

United States Commissioner Van Dyke, who is clerk of the United States Circuit Court, and Clerk Edward R. Owen, of the District Court, are suthorized to administer the necessary caths. Should any great number of pensioners come to them for this purpose today, however, the pensioners themselves would probably at best be put to an annoying delay. Both courts are running and cannot be delayed for this purpose. If very many old soldiers anply to have the necessary caths administered, the result would be that they would have to wait their turn, and it might be a considerable time before they could get their money.

A number of resident notaries, actuated by philantinopic motives, have signified their intention of serving the necessary affidavits, and this action will save money for the pensioners and cut down the receipts at the Courthouse.

Two Convictions for Interference with Officers in the Discharge of Their Duty-Officer Lehnhausen's Adventure in Temp Hall.

RESISTED OFFICERS.

The next two cases in point of interest were the trials of Charles Vinson and Billy Kidder for interfering with officers in the discharge of their duties. Both were found guilty and will be sentenced today. The sentence in either case will probably not be a very light one, as the interference was of a meddlesome and unwarranted character. Deputy District Attorney James told the court that he would expect him to make an example of these prisoners, as officers were interfered with entirely too much of late. The maximum penalty for the offense is $5000 fine or five years in State's prison. Mr. James does not sak that the extreme peniaty be inflicted, but he wishes the sentence to be severe enough to set a headthy example.

The testimony in the Vinson case was of a very interesting character. It appeared that Officer C. G. Lenhausen set out last Sunday to get evidence to close up a salqon that was kept open week days and Sundays, without any city license whatever. The place is known as Temperance Hall, and is located under the branch postoffice known as Station C, corner of Arcadia, and Main streets. It is run by F. C. Gerkins and wife, who formerly ran a licensed saloon but had their license revoked for cause. Then they started their notorious Temperance Hall, and to the uninitiated they served only soft drinks, cigars, stc., but the police claim that beer, whisky and wine have been regularly sold to parties on the "inside," but all efforts of the police to catch them in the act failed, for the Gerkins' were sty, Finally Officer Leinhausen its job printing.

Liehnhausen's Coup.

Officer Lehnhausen testified, yesterday, in the Vinson case, that, knowing the sort of women that had entree to the place, he last Sunday evening dressed himself up as a masher, ploked up a frail female on Alameda street and escorted her to Temperance Hall to drink some beer. With his frail companion, he seated himself in a box in the saloon, and presently Mrs. Gerkins came around in person to see what they would have. He ordered beer, Mrs. Gerkins tokked him under the chin, spoke a few words to the woman with him, who had evidently imbiled there before, and brought the beer. After drinking it, the officer went to the bar ordered two bottles more, paid for them, and then asked the man behind the bar if the house had license to sell liquor. He pointed to a United States revenue license, but the officer sald he meant a city license. The barkeoper sald a ciry license was not needed. Then Lehnhausen displayed his star, which had been concealed under his coat, and told the barkeoper to consider himself under arrest.

ROMANTIC STORY OF A WHITTIEF

From Poverty to Affinence and Down Poverty Again-The Story of Little Adolph Fraker and Hi

The telegraphic dispatches in The fimes of yesterday told a weirdly roof an insurance swindler who, after loading up with insurance cies to the amount of nearly $60,00 several years ago, pretended to shuffle off this mortal coll, when in reality he was still a very much alive man, the object of the deception being to obtain for his heirs the payment of the large insurance policies which he carried or his life at the time of his supposed decease. The swindler's name was Fraker and the story as related in the dis-patches was to the effect that Fraker was discovered in a village in Minn ota by an agent of the insurance com pany, which had been conducting a le pany, which had been conducting a le-gal fight over the payment of the poli-cies for several years. The insurance companies never believed in Fraker's alleged death, as the circumstances con-nected with the story of his drowning were very suspicious, but they lost their fight in the courts, and were on the 12th of last month obliged to pay the execu-of last month obliged to pay the execu-tors of Fraker's estate the tidy sum of $58,000, this money to be held in trust for the dead man's helrs.

One of the heirs is an inmate of the Whittier State Reform School, where he has been quartered for the past three years. He is a boy, 13 years of age, a cousin of the swindler Fraker and bear-ing the name of Adolph Fraker.

Adolph is one of a family of seven children, the father and mother of the family having died several years ago, their deaths occurring almost simul-heir deaths occurring almost simul aneously. The children were scattered taneously. The children were scattered up and down the Coast, Adolph, as stated, being sent to the reform school at Whittier, where he has since remained. In the year 1892, his cousin, the insurance swindler, visited the Coast, and attempted to locate the children of the family of which Adolph was a member. He discovered Adolph in the reform school, and, according to the statement of Dr. Walter Lindley, who at that time was superintendent of the statement of Dr. Walter Lindiey, who at that time was superintendent of the school, took a great fancy to the little boy, provided him with costly presents and declared to Dr. Lindley his intention of taking the boy East with him and there giving him a first-class education. He left the Coast in the spring of 1982 reprising to return for Adolph cation. He left the Coast in the spring of 1892, promising to return for Adolph in the fall of the same year.

He corresponded with the boy in the interim until the month of July, when his reported death by drowning occurred. Then followed the long and hotly-contested fight over the payment of the large insurance policles which Fraker carried, and which he had bequeathed to his little cousin Adolph. As before stated, the case was decided last month, when the insurance companies paid over to Fraker's executors the full amount of the policles.

But the finding of Fraker day before yesterday destroys the beautiful castle he attempted to build for his boy cousin, and reduces Adolph again to the plane of a penniless inmate of the State Reform School. Fraker explains State Reform School. Fraker explains his attempted deception by saying that, after his escape from drowning in the Missouri River, he read the next day in the papers the chronicling of his supposed death, and concluded to keep up the fraud, knowing that his cousin Adolph would receive a large portion, if not all, of the insurance money due from his policies. He was successful for the period of two years, but was not able to continue the deception longer.

Adolph Fraker is described by the superintendent of the reform school as a very bright and lovable boy, industrious, honest and a favorite throughout the institution. He is be-ing taught the trade of a shoemaker in connection with his studies in the

From Chicago I went to Milwaukee and stayed most of the fall of that year. By that time the name of Fraker had been too much advertised, and I told my room-mate that I was from Denver, and my name was William Schnell. I went by the name of Schnell from that time on.

"I lived in Wisconsin and Minnesota ever since. I stayed most of the time in towns. I went from one place to another. No, I won't tell you what towns we visited. Dr. Fraker carefully avoided answering question intended to reveal his means of subsistence. Finally, when the question was asked: "Who gave you away to the insurance company and furnished the information that led to your arrest?" the doctor started suddenly and said: "I think it was George Harry, one of the men who went fishing with me. I wrote him from Wisconsin last winter. I told him about a young man whose name I won't mention, who was kind to me when I was sick, I told him the young man's name, and I think he wrote to him and got my address after I moved lato Minnesota."

Fraker's Accomplices Are Likely to Get into Trouble.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 3.—Attorneys or the Kansas Mutual Insurance ompany, one of the companies vicinized by Dr. George W. Fraker, the lissouri swindler arrested at Tower, linn., Sunday, are preparing to a petition in the United latest Circuit Court to restrain Lincoln, executor of the Bank of Liberty, from paying out any of the money padd under judgment against the insurance companies. Petitions will also be filed to restrain the Probate Judge from disposing of any of the money he may have in his possession under the judgment.

Several days ago Mr. Lincoln started to California to bring back five orphanchildren, beneficiaries of Fraker's insurance money.

children, beneficiaries of Fraker's insurance money.

It is probable that Uncle Jake Crowley, James Triplet and George Harvey, who testified to seeing George Fraker drowned, will be arrested on charges of perjury, and there may be some startling developments in the course of the next few days.

A gentleman prominently connected with one of the insurance companies victimized by Fraker takes a less confident view of the situation. He said: "It is very unlikely that Fraker can be held on any charge. He disappeared,

"It is very unlikely that Fraker can be held on any charge. He disappeared, but he never put in a claim for any life insurance. The insurance has been paid, but there is no proof that he received a cent, or tried to get a cent. The money was paid without any actual proof of death. It can never be proved that Fraker actually put up a job to defraud the companies without his own admission, and even if it were proved it could not be recovered, on account of the manner in which the money had been distributed among the heirs."

which the money had been distributed among the heirs."

George Henry, who was with Fraker when he went over the Missouri River bank, near Camden, Mo., July 10, 1893, is on his way to New Mexico, where he is to be tried for horse-stealing. He made affidavit that he saw Fraker drown, and when the New Mexico authorities get through with him he will probably be prosecuted for perjury. Henry was arrested near Moberly, Mo., last Saturday. He had in his possession letters giving a full statement of the Fraker case. He has served one term in the Missouri penitentiary for horse-stealing.

The Fraker Sensation.

The Fraker Sensation.

LIBERTY (Mo..) Sept. 3.—The news of the finding of Dr. Fraker at Tower, Minn., created considerable excitement here. Attorneys for the insurance companies served notice on the Commercial Bank, Probate Judge Fowler and on the clerk of Judge Lincoln, executor of Fraker's will, that they would apply for an injunction before United States Judge Foster enjoining them from paying out any money. Judge Lincoln is in Colorado.

Fry your food in Cottolene instead of lard and it will be free from that greasiness and "richness" so distressing to dyspeptics; the flavor will be delicious instead of rancid, and your food will do you good. Put it in a cold pan, heating it with the pan. Cottolene reaches the cooking point much quicker than lard—care should therefore be taken not to overheat it. Follow these instructionsyou will never use lard again. Genuine Cottolene has trade-marks—"Cot tolene" and ster" head in cotton-plant wreath—on every tin. Made only by THE N. K. PASADENA.

THE HUMANE SOCIETY IS TRYING TO PROTECT THE HORSES.

Protest Against High Checking buked-Mr. Johnson Loved His

PASADENA, Sept. 3.-(Regular Cor respondence.) The Humane Society of Pasadena is doing a good work in at-tempting to instill into the minds of the young the duty of kindness to animals. It should turn its attention to some of the business portion of the community. and see to it that a prevailing form of cruelty to horses is discouraged. In the course of a walk about the business streets of Pasadena many horses may be seen, in the course of the day, so chécked up that they must be in real torture. Many horses are so restrained in their natural action that standing hitched to a post they are utterly unable to breathe properly, or to move the head from side to side to protect themselves from the files. The overcheck, when used in this senseless manner, is a cruelty that should be abolished by law. The ordinance against permitting horses to stand for hours on the public streets is unheeded, and many animals are left for half a day at a time usprotected from the sun. The Humane Society has caused tags to be printed, which may be obtained at Dr. Rowland's office, warning the owners itched to a post they are utterly un printed, which may be obtained at Dr. Rowland's office, warning the owners of such animals. The card reads thus: "You are violating the law in practicing cruelty to animals. Horses left standing unprotected from the weather, worked with sore shoulders or while sick, infirm or lame, or animals or fowls left without food or water or cruelly tied, will be taken charge of and the owner or driver prosecuted. Heed the warning."

THE SALVATION ARMY.

The discussion over the right or wrong in the matter of officers ordering a man in a vehicle to "move on," in order that the one side of the street left free to passers-by might not be blockaded, emphasizes that which has been said in these columns before, and which the best citizens of this community concur in. The Salvation Army has a "right" to stand on the corner of Fair Oaks and Colorado street and rend the sir with the noise of their brass instruments, their bass drums, their tambourines and their discordant vocal performances, because they have secured permission from the city to do so. A right granted to a few which interferes with the rights of the great number of people of the community is wrong. It is said by some people that should the Council revoke the permit, the Salvationists would meet on the corner in defiance of the law, and would consider themselves martys if arrested for such violation and would go to fall if convicted, defiant of the authorities, and repeat the performance as soon as they were released, and the religious part of the community would consider their incarceration an outrage upon Christianity.

He is the fellow who has such an affection for the jall that when he was incarcerated, a few weeks ago, he refused to leave when discharged, and sat on the steps of the building all day, and slept there at night. He was "drunk again," and given his favorite lodging for five days. A man named Dench was fined by the Recorder for the same offense, and committed at the same time for five days.

Bid for Electric Lighting the Street Rejected-Warring Bill-posters Have a Bout-A Sugar House

SANTA ANA, Sept. 3.—(Regular Cor. respondence.) At the regular meeting of the Board of Trustees held in the City Hall last night the principal business of general importance attended to was the opening of bids for furnishing electric lighting, and for the construction of two blocks asphaltum pavement on Fourth street, between Spurgeon and

On the electric light proposition two bids were submitted, both from the Santa Ana Gas and Electric Company, and were embraced in the following communication, signed by the president of the company:

"To the Honorable Board of Trustees, city of Santa Ana, Cal.—Gentlemen: In submitting a bid on lighting the streets of Santa Ana according to the specifications prepared by Messrs. Whitney and Lutz, we wish to call your attention to the fact that $4,000 feet of wire will be required to reach these lamps, which is 22,000 feet more than was called for in the plans and specifications for the 'municipal plant' prepared by Mr. Lowe; and Mr. Lowe's estimate on the cost of 21,000 feet of pole and wire line was $5000; taking that as a basis, we find that the pole and wire line mecessary to reach these lamps (some of which are 1500 feet apart) would cost $7500; add to this, cost of forty lamps, and we have an outlay of $8820, which is quite a large outlay when we consider the probability that a number of these lights may be discontinued after the first year. In view of this fact we have prepared two bids, one on the forty-light proposition, and the other—the original thirty-light proposition, which we submitted some time ago. Our investment necessary to comply with the conditions of this proposition would be comparatively small. We have offered to give the city these lights at a price which they cannot be produced by steem, and pay 6 per cent. on the investment.

PROPOSITION FOR FORTY LIGHTS, of the company:
"To the Honorable Board of Trustee

PROPOSITION FOR FORTY LIGHTS.

We hereby propose to furnish forty are lights of the 1200-candle power type, as per plans filed with the City Clerk, to run from dark to midnight every night, for the sum of $7.50 per month, or the same to run on the moonlight schedule for the sum of $5 per month, each; provided, that when the city refuses to renew this contract the Board of Trustees shall purchase for the city the 'electric plant' as it now stands for the sum of $6000, and pay actual cost for all extensions made to comply with the conditions of the contract.

FOR THIRTY LIGHTS. "We hereby propose to furnish thirty are lights of the 1200-candle power type, to run every night from dark to midto run every night from dark to midnight, for the sum of $5 per month each, no lamp to be placed over thirty'

"Respectfully submitted,
"SANTA ANA GAS AND ELECTRIC

"By C. M. HOLMES, President."
Immediately upon the conclusion of the reading of this proposal, a motion was carried to reject it as a whole. The final report of the commissioners appointed to open the alley in the rear of the Commercial Bank was read, adopted, and a compensation of $50.85 was allowed the commissioners.

Reports of the various city officers were read and ordered filed, and a petition for the extension of the city water mains to the East-end school was referred to a committee for investigation.

There were three proposals in for furnishing quarters for a city hall and fire engine-house, as follows: W. H. Spurgeon, room for engine-house at the corner of Sycamore and Fifth streets for $12.50 per month: D. Gildmacher. for $12.50 per month; D. Gildmacher, room for city hall at No. 317 West Fourth street, for $12.50 per month; J. M. Lacy, two rooms, one on Fifth and one on Main street, for engine-house and city hall, respectively, for $35 per month; H. Neill, room now occupied as city hall, for $10 monthly. The offers of Messrs. Spurgeon and Neill, being the lowest, were accepted, and the location of the city hall and engine-house will remain unchanged.

THE SALOON FIGHT. As predicted in The Times this (Tuesday) morning, the saloon fight in Santa Ana opened up today. Chris Miller opened his saloon on East Fourth street early this morning, in vio-Fourth street early this morning, in vio-lation of a city ordinance known as the Pomona liquor ordinance, which does away with screens, chairs, tables, etc., in the saloons, and raises the li-cense to $800 per year, this license being $200 more than it was before the ordi-nance was adopted by the City Council. The liquor men have been greatly agi-tated today, and have been waiting for the Council to arrest Mr. Miller for vio-lating the ordinance, but the Council proposes to look before it leaps in the matter, and to be sure of its ground. SUPPRISED SALOON MEN.

SURPRISED SALOON MEN. The City Council held a special meeting tonight, at which Miller's saloon license was revoked. This is a move that the liquor men were not looking for. If the saloon is opened tomorrow morning, Miller will be arrested for selling liquor without a license, and fined as the law provides.

NOTHER FREE-FOR-ALL PACER ANOTHER FREE-FOR-ALL PACER. Santa Ana now has another free-for-all pacer, and John Baker is the fortunate owner. In the races at Sacramento Monday in the 2:30 class pace, John Baker's mare, Birdroe, surprised everybody—even her owner and driver, by pacing the second heat of the race in which she was entered in 2:12½, the first and third heats being paced out at a much faster clip than the class in which she was entered. The first heat was made in 2:14½, and the last in 2:15, while the middle one, as above stated, was done in the remarkable time of 2:30 raters in 2:12½.

Until this year Birdroe has never been considered even a good second-class racehorse, but her performance Monday now places her in the class with the fastest sidewheelers on the Coast, among whom are Silkwood, Diablo, Waldo J. and W. Wood. With Silkwood, Klamath, Birdroe, Ketchum and others following close on to the records made by the foregoing on the circuit, Santa Ana and Orange county may well feel proud of their class of racehorses, A BOY THIEF.

The combatants were separated by bystanders, but not before the bill-poster's face was considerably lacerated by coming in contact with the cement sidewalk and Burton's fists. No arrests were made.

The situation now resolves itself into a plain question whether the laws of this city with reference to houses of ill repute can be enforced, or are they to be the laughing stock of the tenderioin district. City Attorney Allison says he is ready to prosecute if any cases are brought into court, or complaint made out. City Marshal Van Dorin says it is his duty to swear out complaints only when he thinks he can secure conviction, and that he is confident this cannot be done so far as occupants of disreputable houses are concerned, although the owners of the property might be convicted. At any rate, neither arrests nor convictions have yet been made.

As will be remembered, the question of doing something with the flagrant disgrace of First street was brought up in a meeting of the Board of City Trustees two weeks ago this evening, and the board instructed the Marshal and City Attorney to institute a crusade which would result in the enforcement of the ordinance and the driving of the law-breakers, not only from First street, but from up-town hotels and lodging-houses as well.

Marshal Van Dorin did notify the in-houses as well.

Marshal Van Dorin did notify the inmates that they must vacate, but they have not complied with the order, and whether the threatened prosecutions whether the threatened prosecutions are to take place remains to be seen. Marshal Van Dorin said today that, in his opinion, it was impossible to secure convictions in such cases, and for that reason he had sworn out no complaints.

Because he had palpitation of the heart, Mr. A. J. Allen determined to quit smoking. He thought the tobacco habit was the cause of his trouble, but when he ceased smoking the pulsations of the heart were more violent than ever. Mr. Allen is a registered chemist of Lynn, Mass., and at second thought he concluded that, if tobacco wasn't the cause, it must knowledge of chemistry naturally prompted him to take Ripans Tabules, well knowing their efficacy in disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels.

Quick relief followed, and now Quick relief followed, and now there is no more distress in the region of the heart. But the remarkable part of Mr. Allen's experience follows: He decided to forego smoking anyhow, and discovered that Ripans Tabules not only satisfied the longing for tobacco, which all smokers are familiar with, but at first he actually looked forward with pleasure to the three periods each day when he took the Tabules. Mr. Allen no longer smokes, and has no desire to, nor does he take the Tabules. He is a well man, and does not need medicine of any kind. Baby Tenders

They Are So Nice

Are a great assistance to busy mothers. One kind is a strong, light wooden frame on casters. At the top is a ring on which the baby's hands rest as he stands in it. To this ring is attached a shelf where playthings may be placed. A seat supported by strong steel springs permits the child's feet to touch the floor, so that he can jump up or down or push the frame about, while at the same time his whole weight does not rest upon them. The price $3.

The Fall Cape

For ladies' wear is of fine, medium weight imported Boucle Cloth, with double capes; lower cape 33 inches deep, upper cape 18 inches deep. The garment has a full sweep of 136 inches and both capes are finished with five, rows of corded satip. Storm collar trimmed in like fashion. Colors: BLACK AND NAVY BLUE. Essentially correct for fall and early winter wear. The price is only $10.

Shoe Style

Is more to be desired than price economy. Where both combine with comfort, they're good shoes.
